AUTO MACHINERY INGENIOUS MARYEL

Compared to Contrivance Taking Place of Dozen Valets for Human.

Waldemar Kaempffert in a recent issue of Collier's drew comparison between the finishing of an automobile and what might be a similar scheme in the ordinary man's life if machinery were to serve humans as it serves automobiles.

"Suppost that there were a contrivance that would take the place of a than an automatic bathing, toothbrushing, haircombing, manicuring, cravat-tying, and dressing machinesomething about the size of a donkey engine's boiler and packed with about as much mechanism as a clock, Suppose that the machine were installed in your home.

Every Act Automatic.

"After you have been dinned out of your bed by an insistent alarm clock, you divest yourself of your pajamas. walk up to the machine, open a door, and step in. Carefully closing the door, you pull a lever. There is a whirring, followed by a shower of water. You are taking your bath, Mechanical brushes scrub you from head to foot with a mathematically calculated innocuous pressure.

"Suddenly the water ceases to rain Turkish towel dries you from top to toe in a brainless but efof water been absorbed from your pears. Knowing what to expect, you open your mouth until the brush is withdrawn. Then you are given a mouth wash

Carefully and Quickly.

"An arm is thrust out for a measured distance and your face is lathered. More whirring of wheels. Two iron clamps seize your head and hold it gently but firmly while an electric safety razor working on the principle of a miniature lawn mower shaves your cheek and chin with tenderness and dispatch. While the witch hazel and talcum powder are blown on you in just the right quantity, two mechanical military brushes descend from above and part your hair in the way most becoming to you.

"Piece by piece your clothes are draped on you. Even your collar is fastened with a little buttonhook. Simultaneously you are lifted bodily and your shoes are pulled on your feet laced and polished.

"If there were such a machine which would automatically take you as so much raw material and manufacture you in ten , minutes into a Beau Brummel you would never cease to gasp in amazement at the inhuman ly human way in which it performed its functions. You would say, man's And yet the automatic machines of a motor car factory are just as mar-

stefft with its policy of last year the Ajax Tire Company has just announced that the guarantee of mileage on its tires will prevail during 1917, except that, instead of put-ting its assurances at 3,500 miles, all purchasers of their product may have written guarantees on Ajax tires for

The plan is unquestionably a good one, and after the most convincing argument of the dealer there is noth ing quite as satisfying to the individual car owner as the written word of the factory that it stands back of . the guarantee.

Hartig plans a four-story building for the home of Ajax. The building plans are well under way and the structure itself will probably be completed some time in the spring.

Price, $3,000.

HERE is a practical principle, marking an advance in enclosed cars, that every motorist ought to know about-

The scientific light-weight Franklin Enclosed Cars—whatever the type—weigh less than 2,700 pounds.

Combined with resiliency, this light weight means easy handling, comfort, safety and economy on roads as they come. Positively controlled ventilation at all times, giving free circula-tion of fresh air without drafts, insures comfort for summer driving and touring. Franklin direct-air-cooling—no water to freeze or leak—has al-ways given the Franklin car superior winter driving qualities.

Whether or not you are thinking of a new car any time soon, by all means get acquainted with the utility of Franklin Enclosed Cars.
